FISH DECLINE

There has been a rapid decline in fish stocks in some Australian waters, according to scientists. Professor Hugh Possingham from the University of Queensland, said Australia was looking to protect 7 million sq km of ocean.
FISH DECLINE

There has been a rapid decline in fish stocks in some Australian waters, according to scientists. Professor Hugh Possingham from the University of Queensland, said Australia was looking to protect 7 million sq km of ocean.
FISH DECLINE

There has been a rapid decline in fish stocks in some Australian waters, according to scientists. Professor Hugh Possingham from the University of Queensland, said Australia was looking to protect 7 million sq km of ocean.